

It is He Who is Love to the Lonely, Hope to the Despairing, and New Life to those who recognize Him as the Greatest Gift.

Dear Friends,

As we gather together on this Fourth Sunday of Advent, we prepare our hearts for the Christ Child's birth.

For on Christmas Day, we will come to the altar and give thanks for the gift of the Word made Flesh, for the gift of the child born in a stable, who was and is the Good News of Great Joy.

It is He who is love to the lonely, who is hope to the despairing and who is new life to those who recognize Him as the greatest Gift of all.

If you haven't been to church in a year - if you haven't been to church in 10 years, 20 years - it doesn't matter. Come. You are welcome here. Celebrate the birth of Christ with us!

There will be eight Christmas Masses this weekend. We have room - we have space - so bring your family and friends. If you're traveling, know that you will be in my prayers.

Come and experience the Joy and Peace of the World's Redeemer!

God love you....
